To Our Valued Partners:

On March 24th, it was announced that Harris County would join the growing list of municipalities issuing a “stay-home-work-safe” order commencing Tuesday at 11:59 pm. As a supplier and manufacturer for the oil and gas industry, Tex-Isle qualifies as an essential business and will remain open. This includes our Houston headquarters, Robstown facility, and George West facility.

Our facilities are running full shifts, and will deliver any previously confirmed orders as well as new requirements. In addition, our supply chain is still operational. All logistics services, including the Port of Houston and Port of Corpus Christi are exempt from any shutdown orders, and have informed us that they will continue to operate normal working hours.

We are taking precautions to reduce the number of personnel on site, and those that can work remotely will do so. Should you need to contact us, please feel free to reach out to your Tex-Isle representative, or any of our three locations.
